

Royals Lose, 4-3, Sunday

Phils Take 3-2 Series Lead

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — It now comes down to Steve Carlton and the rest of the Philadelphia Phillies' "Comeback Gang."

And for that, the Phils can be thankful to a small man with a big bat.

Del Unser, a castoff two years ago when the Phillies latched onto him, performed nobly once again Sunday, sending Philadelphia home with a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven game World Series.

The sixth game of the Series will be played Tuesday night with the Royals into a deep, dark corner.

"Having to go into Philly and win two, the odds are against you," Unser said. "It's a good feeling going one game up and

Carlton may or may not share the spotlight when he has a chance to wrap up the Phillies' first World Series title, but on Sunday, the light of victory shone directly on Unser.

Unser stroked a pinch double, his third hit in six at-bats during the Series, to tie the game at 3-3 in the ninth inning. Then scored the winning run for a 4-3 victory that backed the Royals into a deep, dark corner.

"Having to go into Philly and win two, the odds are against you," Unser said. "It's a good feeling going one game up and having Lefty Pitching the next game and Rufus (Dick Ruthven) if he's needed, but we'll stick with our one-game-at-a-time philosophy."

The Phillies, who have trailed at one time or another in all five Series games, came into the ninth down 3-2. They faced Kansas City's ace reliever, Dan Quisenberry.

Mike Schmidt, who hit a two-run homer in the fourth, led off with an infield single on a drive that Royals third baseman George Brett dove to his left and knocked down. Phils Manager Dallas Green then sent Unser in to pinch hit for Lonnie Smith. That got a lefty hitter against a righty pitcher, but moreover, it brought to bat a man who repeatedly has rallied the Phillies to victory this year.

Unser became a Phillie in 1978 when he was released outright by the Montreal Expos. Seven teams drafted him, but none made it to Philadelphia. He decided it could use a 25-year-old journeyman outfielder and acquired him in the recent draft.

Unser has more than proven his worth.

He stroked a pinch single that keyed a five-run rally in the eighth inning and led Game 5 of the National League playoffs with Houston. In the next inning, he doubled and scored the run that got Philadelphia here.

Unser's pinch double in the eighth inning of the second game of the World Series started a winning, four-run rally and caused Schmidt to comment: "He's unusual."

When Quisenberry got his stinker just a hair too high on a sunny but cool Sunday afternoon, Unser lashed it toward Royals first baseman Willie Amon. The ball took a wicked pop and bounced over Amon's glove, scoring Schmidt all the way from first as Unser moved into second.

Moreland sacrificed Unser to third. After Garry Maddox grounded out, Manny Trillo lashed a line drive that carried off Quisenberry's glove and bounced toward third for an infield single that scored Unser.

"I've been lucky in this Series," Unser said. The ball bounced over Amon's glove by two or three inches, maybe. He didn't have much time to react.

Rightie Marty Bystrom started for the Phils, but when 42,369 Royals fans saw their last swing on the World Series, it was Tom McGraw standing on the mound.

Ho-Hum Heisman

The winner of the 1980 Heisman Trophy will be announced in the next few weeks.

If you're like me, you're not excitedly waiting with bated breath for the earth-shaking announcement.

After all, the winner's name will come as no surprise to most of the football-watching public.

They'll have seen his name a few thousand or so times in print this season as he is pumped for so many yards in this game, scored so many touchdowns in that game — or threw several bushels of touchdown passes during the season to lead his team to the Hoopla Bowl.

Our point is this: why is the Heisman trophy always awarded to a running back or quarterback?

Do not offensive linemen have anything to do with that appearance in the prestigious Hoopla Bowl? Are defensive players' chances of winning the Heisman about equal to that of a snowball surviving until high noon on the Sahara Desert?

— A Gift Of The NYAC

For the record, the Heisman Trophy — symbolic of the most outstanding player for the year in college football — is awarded each year by the New York Athletic Club.

Through the vote of a panel of approximately 1,000 sports writers and broadcasters, the eventual winner is selected.

I wish I had available a complete list of past Heisman winners. It would be interesting to see just how many "non-glamorous" football players Heisman voters admitted even existed.

Although not perfectly sure, it seems that somewhere in the dim past a lineman, or at least a pass receiver, was once a surprise winner.

But all winners I can recall have been those who threw or ran with the ball. Which, considering the number of players required to make up a successful team, is somewhat ridiculous.

We'd like to have a look at any instructions given Heisman voters, too.

For instance, should a vote be cast for the individual ability of the athlete, or is his value to the team the prime consideration given when making a choice.

Either way — if I had a vote — I would submit the names of Florida State University placekicker Bill Capece and punter Robn Stark as co-winners of the 1980 Heisman trophy, since I believe that value to the team should be the most important criterion for the award.

— Not No. 7 Without Them

There's little doubt the No. 7-rated Seminoles would not be the No. 7-rated Seminoles without the outstanding performances of these two leg men.

Stark's high and booming punts have been an integral part of the success of the Seminoles, making him as potent a defensive weapon as the tackles of middle guard Ron Simmons and the efforts of Monk Bonasorte in the secondary.

That should be readily understandable.

Naturally, when a team continually takes possession of the ball deep within its own territory, there are very few offensive maneuvers that can be attempted without jeopardizing life and limb and the coach's contract.

And who will ever forget the four field goals Capece boomed to bring No. 3 ranked Nebraska to its knees a few weeks ago, or the live 3-pointers he sent screaming through the goal posts a week later to put the new No. 3 team — Pittsburgh — in its proper place.

It's a highly doubtful and probably ludicrous to believe that such co-winners will ever be named for the Heisman.

But it would be nice to see proper recognition given where that recognition is justly deserved.

Judging from their value to the Seminoles, no two football players deserved such recognition any more than Capece and Stark — even though one never touches the ball with his hands, and the other uses his hands only to drop

Bulldogs' Second Half Rally Burns Albany, 17-7

By GEORGE LASSITER

ALBANY — Thomasville High's Bulldogs had a frustrating first half, but managed to regroup at halftime, rally for two touchdowns and hand the Albany Indians a 17-7 football loss here Saturday night.

Thomasville came close in the first half, only to see offensive mistakes halt attempts at putting the football in the end zone. Meanwhile, the Indians were in the right place and led 7-0 at halftime.

The Bulldogs did not turn the ball over in the first half — or in the game — but dropped passes and lost big yardage on key downs in the first half.

The second half was marked by the excellent running of backs Willie Williams, Johnny Harris and quarterback Lennie Moore. The defense was keyed by excellent line play and four interceptions by the defensive backs: Jeff Fivash and Jimmy Francis had two each.

In the first quarter, it was a 31-yard punt return by Francis which gave Thomasville its first scoring opportunity of the game.

ALBANY		THOMASVILLE

First Downs	11 18	Yards Rushing	143 113
Yards Passing	43 44	Yards Passing	43 44
Total Offense	154 161	Passes	3:51 3:19

Penalties	7-43 4-35

15 yards to the Indian 38. Albany was penalized 15 yards and after a seven-yard loss, Moore connected with Williams for 20 yards to the Indiana 18-yard line. Williams was out of bounds and the officials signaled for the clock to stop.

The clock operator in the press box did not stop the clock and despite a Thomasville protest for an additional play, the referee walked off the field to signal halftime.

Albany received the second half kickoff. It was stopped immediately by Thomasville defense and forced to punt. The short punt of 25 yards gave the Bulldogs excellent field position at their own 47.

It took only two plays for Thomasville to score. Williams slashed up the middle for 10 yards and the Bulldogs repeated the play. The second Thomasville took advantage of superb downfield blocking to race 43 yards for the touchdown.

The extra point by Morgan was good and Thomasville led 10-7 with 9:28 remaining in the third quarter.

Harris was the star of the next drive as he raced forward on run play, 20, 22 and 18 yards to move the Bulldogs from their own 36 to the Albany 19.

It looked almost like a repeat of the first half offense at this point as three straight running plays lost a total of six yards. The Dogs attempted a 35-yard field goal on fourth down. It was wide to the right.

Thomasville forced an Albany punt and got the ball in play at midfield, only to stall on three plays. This punter and Morgan saved the Bulldogs by fiddling a bouncing snap from center and managed to kick an excellent punt which rolled dead at the Indian 10.

Three plays later Albany quarterback Danny Blaylock raced around right end and had double the yardage needed for a first down.

But somewhere in the crowd of Thomasville backers, the ball popped out and Earl G. Hinesbacker Robert Walker grabbed it in midair and raced 25 yards for a touchdown. Morgan kicked the PAT and the Bulldogs were on top 17-7 with 4:11 remaining in the contest.

Albany threw another interception on its first play and Thomasville moved to the Indian 15-yard line. Again on fourth down, Moore hit the receiver in the hands with what appeared to be a touchdown pass — but it was dropped.

Albany managed only 45 yards on its second half, 43 yards in the final 1:30 of the contest.

Thomasville is now 4-3 for the season and plays Okechitto County in a key Region 1A-AA-South contest Friday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

A quick first down moved THIS to the Indian 23 and that was the end of the drive as the Albany defense forced two bad passes and dropped backs for losses on two other plays.

Albany played ball control for the next six minutes to drive 75 yards behind the running of Bo Williams and take command of the game 7-0 with 11:01 remaining in the half.

The Indians' drive was to be their last scoring threat in the contest as Thomasville began to dominate play. Albany had an 83-13 edge in total yardage in the opening quarter and only added six yards in the second stanza.

Francis returned the kickoff 23 yards and the Bulldogs were on the move again. Buno by Harris and Moore and a 36-yard pass from Moore to Oliver Majors moved Thomasville to the Albany 71.

Three plays later Moore rushed nine yards to the Albany 10. Offensive consistency was not in the picture, as a five-yard penalty and a 19-yard loss on a quarterback sack forced THIS to punt from the 38 on fourth down.

The Indians were forced to punt and THIS got together a 34-yard drive which ended in a 28-yard field goal by Scott Morgan with 1:12 to go in the half.

Williams had 34 yards in five attempts to split the Bulldogs to the Albany 11. On a third down play, Moore hit a receiver in the end zone only to see the pass bounce off his numbers and on the ground.

THIS head coach Jim Hughes decided to try the field goal with time running out in the half.

Albany ran only one play with Francis pulling down the interception at the Thomasville 47 and returned it

13 yards to the Indian 38. Albany was penalized 15 yards and after a seven-yard loss, Moore connected with Williams for 20 yards to the Indiana 18-yard line. Williams was out of bounds and the officials signaled for the clock to stop.

Georgia's Herschell Walker (R) Flipped By Vandy's Young Walker's 283 Yards Leads Georgia Past Vandy, 41-0

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Herschell Walker tried to tie people the Georgia victory over Vanderbilt belonged to the entire team. But a lot of them concentrated only on his record-setting rushing performance.

Walker piled up a Georgia-record 283 yards, including touchdown dashes of 80, 48 and 53 yards, in the Bulldogs' 41-0 romp over the Commodores.

"I didn't get all that yardage by myself. The whole offensive line and myself got the record," the powerful freshman tailback said. "They were really opening up some big holes out there."

Walker seemed unimpressed by his performance, which broke Charlie Tripp's 35-year-old record, saying he needs improvement.

"I think I'm real slow coming off the line," he said. "I need to accelerate better."

The Commodores said he did quite well enough.

"Their offense is the same as last year, only they've got more back than we do."

Kurly. "He's the one who has contributed most to our success. He's got the speed and power to run over the first tackler — toom — by the rest of them."

"Herschell Walker was the difference," said Coach George McIntyre of the 93 Commodores. "He's as good as any back I've ever seen. It takes about six guys to bring him down out there."

Despite Walker's heroics, he didn't get the game ball. That went to Dooley and his wife, Barbara, who were injured in an auto accident Thursday night.

Dooley's face showed the marks of the accident Saturday and his Dooley remained in a hospital recovering from three broken ribs and surgery to remove her spleen.

"They're like mother and daddy to everyone on the line," explained defensive guard Joe Creammore.

The victory had other spots of brilliance. Quarterback Buck Belue completed seven of

Road Ahead Rougher For Top College Teams

By FRANCHIEL NUBBENSON

AP Sports Writer

There are still seven teams in the Associated Press Top Twenty with perfect records but the road ahead isn't easy for any of them.

Top-rated Alabama, a 7-0 winner over Tennessee, has a Nov. 15 date with fifth-ranked Notre Dame, which trimmed Army 36-3 ... and don't overlook Bama's game next week far unranked — Southern Mississippi.

Notre Dame has a date with second-ranked Southern California on Dec. 6.

Sixth-ranked Georgia kept on rolling by dumping Vanderbilt 41-0 as freshman sensation Herschell Walker rushed for a school record 283 yards and three touchdowns. The Bulldogs must play South Carolina, Florida and Auburn on successive November Saturdays.

Eighth-rated North Carolina, which overwhelmed North Carolina State 28-0, has road dates with Oklahoma and Clemson early next month.

And No. 13 Baylor, which clobbered Texas A&M 46-7, must still meet the likes of Texas and Arkansas.

Third-ranked Texas and No. 4 UCLA, the other Top Twenty unbeaten, had the weekend off. If they cared to look ahead, Texas would have seen Southern Methodist, Houston, Baylor and Texas A&M among its future foes while UCLA has to play Oregon, Arizona State and Southern Cal.

USC was the only one of the top 17 teams to fall on its face over the weekend. The Trojans stretched their unbeaten streak to 26 games but were held to 17-17 by Oregon.

Meanwhile, seventh-ranked Florida just crushed Boston College 41-7. Old Florida turned back Indiana 37-37 and No. 16 Nebraska thumped Oklahoma State 46-7.

Elsewhere, No. 11 Pitt mauling Virginia 55-14. No. 13 Penn State lamed back Syracuse 24-7. No. 15 South Carolina trounced Cincinnati 41-7.

College Football Roundup

Oklahoma downed Kansas State 21-7.

But No. 11 Miami, Fla., fell to Mississippi State 34-31. No. 19 Iowa State bowed to Kansas 27-17 and No. 20 Stanford fell to Washington 77-19. Arkansas, ranked 4th, made it.

Both Alabama and Georgia teams have 34 Southeastern Conference records — as does unranked Louisiana State, a 17-0 winner over Kentucky — but they don't meet each other. If they wind up with 43 SEC marks, Georgia will go to the Sugar Bowl.

And Walker would be quite an attraction in New Orleans. The 216-pounder shattered Charlie Tripp's 35-year-old rushing record by carrying 23 times for 283 yards, and including touchdown runs of 80, 48 and 53.

"Herschell Walker was the difference," said Vandy coach George MacIntyre. "He's as good as any back I've ever seen. It takes about six guys to bring him down out there."

Meanwhile, Alabama did it with defense, limiting, limiting, limiting Tennessee to a total of 36 yards in what Bear Bryant called "one of the best defensive games we've ever played." Alabama held the Volunteers to a first down and its lone 3-yard run in the first half. In battling arch-rival Tennessee for the 10th year in a row, even Bryant was impressed.

"I think now that if we can continue to stay together, we can have a sure enough good football team," he said. "We have the chance to have a great team."

Notre Dame linebacker Mark Zavinich recovered a blocked punt on one touchdown and set up another with an interception as the Irish knocked Army Coach Ed Cavanagh called the Irish every bit as good as the team friendship to South Bend.

Steve Siresler triggered North Carolina's triumph over N.C. State with a 37-yard punt for the game's first touchdown on a fair play in the second period. Rod Elkin threw a touchdown pass to Victor Harrison 13 seconds later to score on a 19-yard bootleg in the third period and hit Harrison again for a fourth-quarter TD.

State Coach Monte Kiffin called the Tar Heels "a great team. Every great team I've been around in my days at Nebraska and Arkansas, they've had a great defense. And that's what North Carolina has."

Walter Abercrombie ran 15 yards for a touchdown with a screen pass and later dashed 71 yards for another score as Baylor, off to its best start in 77 years at 6-0, maulled Texas A&M.

"This team doesn't have the tendency to look ahead," said Coach Grant Teaff. "We take it one minute, one day and one week at a time. Our goal is to get better each week and so far we have. If we continue to do that, by the time we play Texas (Nov. 21) we could have a pretty good football team."

Southern Cal's tie produced a controversial touchdown when the Trojans scored in the fourth quarter on a 35-yard pass from Gordon Adams to Jeff Simmons in the second period.

Most of the crowd in Eugene, Ore., thought Simmons was off of bounds when he made a diving catch deep in the end zone but the officials ruled it good. Oregon led 17-0 on Terrance Jowen's 3-yard run in the third quarter.

"I felt we brought that tie on ourselves," said USC Coach John Robinson. "We had some opportunities."

Linebacker Ron Hasty broke two punts on one touchdown, Ricky Williams ran for 100 yards and Bill Capece kicked four field goals over Boston College.
